

We invite you to join us on Tuesday, September 11, 2012 for a unique pro-life pastoral-theological conference at Beeson Divinity School, Samford University in Birmingham, Alabama. The conference will follow through on the claims of The Manhattan Declaration and focus on ways in which the church can become a more faithful witness for life. Speakers will be featured from the various organizations which make up the National Pro-Life Religious Council. We are also honored to have Dr. Timothy George, the Dean of Beeson Divinity School, speak as well. Registration is only $25 and can be done through Beeson Divinity School. To register, please go to: www.beesondivinity.com/nprcregistration.

Pastoral Praxis for Life is hosted by the National Pro-Life Religious Council (NPRC), a coalition which acknowledges Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior and is called to affirm and witness to the Biblical standard of the dignity and sanctity of every human life.

Vision of NPRC

To see every Christian denomination or communion proclaim and obey Biblical teaching and Christian tradition that affirms the dignity of the human person.

Mission of NPRC

- To articulate the historic Christian perspective concerning human life issues.
- To support efforts that discourage and prevent acts that dehumanize and harm women, the unborn, the disabled, the dying, and the medically dependent.
- To encourage and foster ministry to those vulnerable to, or wounded by, the tragic aftermath of abortion.
- To work cooperatively with others who share these goals.
